PRESENT,

The Lords of His Majeſty's moſt Honourable Privy Council.

Dublin, October 8.

This Day the Parliament having met according to the Prorogation, his Grace the Lord Lieutenant went in State to the Houſe of Peers, and being ſeated on the Throne with the uſual Ceremony, his Grace ſent for the Commons, and made the following Speech to both Houſes.

His Grace the Duke of Dorſet, Lord Lieutenant General and General Governor of Ireland, his Speech to both Houſes of Parliament, at Dublin, on Tueſday the 8th of October 1751.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I Shall ever eſteem it the greateſt Honour, and my peculiar Happineſs, that the ſame gracious Sovereign, who formerly placed me in this high Station, hath again commanded me to meet a Parliament, whoſe dutiful and affectionate Attachment to His Royal Perſon and Government, I have ſo often experienced, and upon all Occaſions have faithfully repreſented to His Majeſty.

A ſincere Zeal for His Majeſty's Service, and for your Proſperity, ſhall ever be the governing Principle of my Adminiſtration; and my perfect Knowledge of your Temper and Unanimity aſſures me, that we all meet with equal Inclination to promote the publick Welfare.

The zealous Concern that His Majeſty's faithful Subjects of Ireland have ſo eminently ſhewn, for the Preſervation of the Crown, in His Illuſtrious Houſe, leaves me no Room to doubt, that you were deeply affected by the late publick Loſs which theſe Nations have ſuſtained: And you muſt be filled with the warmeſt Sentiments of Reverence and Gratitude, when you conſider the Greatneſs, and the Goodneſs of His Majeſty's Mind, who immediately propoſed thoſe ſalutary Proviſions, which have ſince paſſed into a Law, for guarding againſt every remote Danger, and for ſecuring the People, as far as human Wiſdom could reach, againſt the Conſequences of any fatal Event.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Commons,

I have ordered the proper Officers to prepare the ſeveral Accounts and Eſtimates to be laid before you, as alſo a particular Account of the Money expended in Repairing, Rebuilding, or Building Barracks, purſuant to your Addreſs in a former Seſſion of Parliament.

It gives me great Satisfaction to obſerve the extraordinary Produce of the Funds which you have have formerly granted, and I have nothing to aſk but the uſual Supplies.

I am commanded by the King to acquaint you, that His Majeſty, ever attentive to the Eaſe and Happineſs of His Subjects, will graciouſly conſent, and recommends it to you, that ſuch a Part of the Money now remaining in His Treaſury, as ſhall be thought conſiſtent with the Publick Service, be applied towards the further Reduction of the National Debt.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

The two great Objects which demand your conſtant and moſt ſerious Attention are, the Security of the Proteſtant Intereſt, and the Advancement of your Trade. It muſt neceſſarily occur to you, how much the Support of the Charter-Schools, and the Encouragement of your Linnen Manufactures, will contribute to the Attainment of theſe important Ends, and what further Proviſions may be expedient, will be the Subject of your Deliberations. My Conduct ſhall convince you, that nothing on my Part ſhall be wanting, that may effectuate His Majeſty's gracious Intentions, to make His Subjects of Ireland as happy, as I know them to be dutiful and loyal.

Lisbon, Sept. 17. We are aſſured, that the Ceſſion of the Iſland of St. Sacrament, which was made to the Crown of Spain during the preceding Reign, has been approved and confirmed by his preſent Majeſty, on the Conditions ſtipulated in the Treaty concluded between his late Majeſty and that Crown.

There is no Appearance at preſent of any Alterations being to be made in the Situation of our Troops quartered on the Frontiers of Finland; on the Contrary, Orders have been lately ſent thither, for filling all the Magazines with Proviſions and Forage. Vienna, Oct. 9. On the 4th Inſtant the Emperor's Name-day was celebrated at Schonbrun with great Magnificence; on which Occaſion the Court was extremely brilliant, and their Majeſties dined in Publick, with the young Archduke and Archdutcheſſes.
